

Difference between actual temperature and estimated temperature using a linear model

